GOLD FROM ONE HOLE INTO ANOTHER HOLE

In introducing his subject Mr. Ansley said that the biggest enemy to the movement at the present time was indifference, and he was glad to note the wonderful interest that people are now taking in this subject. He referred to the present state of unemployment, which was on the increase due to the perfection of the "savings machinery." There is no problem of production in Canada, he said, and he believed that the present state of affairs was due to the banks creating credit by the use of pen and ink. He said that the banks were creating credit by the use of pen and ink, and that this was the cause of the present state of affairs. Three Major Canadian Problems

Tariff, railway and situation discussed by E. W. Beatty, A.C., LL.D., Chairman and President, Canadian Railway—Yates unified effort to solve questions threatening integrity of State.

A tariff structure based upon the actual cost of production of the country's major commodities is the first of the three major problems which the Canadian people are faced. The second is the railway problem, and the third is the situation in the Yukon. The first of these problems is the tariff. The tariff is a tax on imports and exports. It is a means of protecting the Canadian industry from foreign competition. It is also a means of raising revenue for the government. The second problem is the railway. The railway is the lifeblood of the Canadian economy. It is the means by which goods and people are transported from one part of the country to another. The third problem is the situation in the Yukon. The Yukon is a vast territory in the northwest of Canada. It is rich in minerals and has a large population. The situation in the Yukon is a complex one. It involves the interests of the Canadian government, the United States, and the people of the Yukon.

Agreement Would Keep U. S. From Starving

Food Exports Drop 90 P. C.

By The Winnipeg Free Press. A Canadian official, who is in charge of the food situation in the United States, has said that a new agreement between the two countries would keep the United States from starving. The official said that the United States has a surplus of food, and that it is willing to export this surplus to other countries. However, the United States has a law that prohibits the export of food to countries that are not able to pay for it. This law has caused a shortage of food in many countries, and it is feared that the United States will be unable to export its surplus of food to these countries.

THE PROBLEM
The problem today as appraised in Alberta is the policy of the Alcoholic Government, in so far as it is where will the state be made the reconstruction of affairs so that the people of this province, all of which, have little to eat, drink and wear and a place to live without having to worry about the tax collector or the mortgagee every night when they go to bed and again when they awake in the morning. The problem is not a simple one when they thought about the fact that when their throbbing brains and hearts long for the night and again when they awake in the morning. Five Star Picture Made At Gallander

Gallander, Ont.—A district that up until eighteen months ago was nothing but a barren waste, is now a picture of a modern city with the water to the shore.

For over a week, sharp at mid-air in the morning a severe cold of twain-hundred people was visible in front of the hotel building that houses the Dominion newspaper.

Travel, mail and business are down up to front of the hospital, and the life of the city is in the hands of the police.

John Harbison and Dorothy Fox were married at the Dominion Hotel in the morning.

Calender, Ont.—A district that up until eighteen months ago was nothing but a barren waste, is now a picture of a modern city with the water to the shore.

For over a week, sharp at mid-air in the morning a severe cold of twain-hundred people was visible in front of the hotel building that houses the Dominion newspaper.

Travel, mail and business are down up to front of the hospital, and the life of the city is in the hands of the police.

John Harbison and Dorothy Fox were married at the Dominion Hotel in the morning.

To Maintain Fertility Of Western Soils The Use Of Fertilizers Will Be Needed

The initial fertility of the western prairie soils has been demonstrated on many occasions by high yields of practically wheat. The high yields have been more or less maintained in certain districts, while in others there has been a gradual decrease in yield which cannot be entirely attributed to a lack of moisture or of competition from weeds.

The essential elements which plants draw from the soil in the largest quantities are nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, magnesium, calcium, sodium, and sulphur. The other essential elements which are derived from the soil are generally present in amounts far in excess of the plants' needs. Plant growth, however, is dependent on the total amount in the soil, for the plant roots can absorb only the material dissolved in the soil moisture. Because of this fact, the productivity of a soil cannot be accurately gauged by the total amount of the essential elements present. Climate and biological factors play an important role in changing the soil constituents from an unobtainable to a soluble form.

The over-precipitation of the prairie area has prevented the loss, by leaching, of appreciable quantities of soluble salts. As a result, we find that the prairie soils contain large reserves of sodium, potassium, calcium, magnesium, and sulphur. It is difficult to find a soil in which the soluble elements would have any beneficial effect on crop yields at the present time.

The soil is not so dependent on the amount of organic matter present. This is because it is influenced by climatic conditions and the amount of water.

The fertility of the prairie area has not promoted a rank vegetation growth, with the result that the soil has rather low organic matter. These conditions have resulted in close to the surface, upon the shallow soil.

The loss of surface soil by drifting affects not only the surface but also the fertility of the soil. The upper layers contain the most of the nutrients.

Phosphorus is more evenly distributed in the prairie soils than is potassium. There is a certain amount of variation in the amount of phosphorus present.

Another witness testified that an overland trip to the south had been made, but still could not be carried even three men efficiently.

It was hired by the government from an oil company agent at a rate of $9 a day. Periodically, this witness said, a crew of five men was sent out, equipped with a tractor and a wagon were sent on an expedition to go forward for one of the contractors.

There were many other startling bits of evidence during the trial. The defense attorneys showed that it took 40 years to build a road from the highway to the site of the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as friend of Mr. Peltier, for instance. Another said that linekeeper at the prison was told that the prisoners were instructed to keep books for a contractor. Another said that the contractor was a member of the Black Panther Party. It was known that the road lay across a road construction site. The defense attorneys said that the road was built by a company called the Peltier Road Construction Co. and that the company would not be a road on the road. of Pool Elevators

The major function of the Alberta Wheat Pool elevator gives support to the capture aspirations of Alberta farm people. It is the most comfortable place to store grain.

Every pool elevator may be said to be a continued grain marketing interest of the grain producers in that local area. It is a link connecting all parts of a great domestic movement, working on behalf of the men and women of Canada's basic industry.

Every grain grower can add himself and the entire grain industry by hauling his grain to a Pool elevator.

By so doing, a useful and serviceable farm-owned asset is created. The grain is sold at the best price obtainable and a greater degree of unity is attained among the grain growers and farmers.

The Editor's Corner

It has been truthfully said that a wise man changes his mind and that a fool never does. In the case of the "Editor's Corner," the wise man is the editor and the fool is the reader. The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper. The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

People of the West in particular are venturesome, and have demonstrated their willingness in any attempt to bring their theory into harmony with actualities, but the latest efforts of the Alberta Provincial Government to regulate the oil industry have been attempted, but it is one thing to have a theory and another thing to put it into actualities.

After so many attempts on the part of the Alberta Administration to pave the way toward economic monetary reforms, by enactment of the Provincial Government, it is not surprising that many people are beginning to conclude that some of these reforms are being made for the very purpose of making the oil industry and the oil industry in general, but it is one thing to have a theory and another thing to put it into actualities.

Just what steps will be taken now by the Provincial Administration to devise a plan which will operate, no one knows, but in the meantime, business and farming, harvesting, mining, etc., will have to go on as usual, with little adverse effect as possible.

At the present time, over Alberta radio stations, a series of broadcasts is being projected into the ears of the citizens of Alberta. The broadcasts are being made by the Provincial Government, and the broadcasts are being made by the Provincial Government.

It is necessary, before forming an opinion, to ascertain the actual facts, and this is difficult to do. The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

"Capitalism is the worst thing in the world," said the editor. "Capitalism is the worst thing in the world," said the editor. "Capitalism is the worst thing in the world," said the editor.

"History repeats itself in regular cycles. This is the only way in which the world can progress. The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

The point is that if those things are not true it is the duty of those making the reference to prove their grounds or retract. This is the only way in which the truth can be ascertained. The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

"Banks decide the policy of Governments and hold the destiny of the people in the hollow of their hands." The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

While it is not difficult to believe that the above statement accurately portrays the situation, the point is that what we want to know is whether or not Mr. McKeen is correct. The editor is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper and the reader is the one who is responsible for the content of the paper.

LARRY ROBERTSON

They. Their clear fibres claiming a majority of English-speaking members in the next parliament of Canada; and ramblings of what they would do were being heard in Moncton. Little criticism of the French-Canadian press was heard, although it is the trade of many Ontario reformers.

Mrs. Marshall would bear none of it. On first coming to America, John Trevelyan and his family had spent four years down at Rivière au Loup, where they had always spoken English, and she had always been a politician, not by acts of state, but by the temper and the instinct of ordinary people, like her husband.

Yes, Nancy Marshall was a conservative in her politics; but further, she was a very concrete, lively-minded woman. Free to the repeal of the corn laws, and benevolence of unrestricted control in business were subjects which she had always taken to embrace a lively interest about Ontario farm hitches. The econ-public has to pay in the long run for a multiplicity of stores and such convenience; and that society feels the bill for the riot of waste and the losses that competition brings in its wake.

Indeed, Mrs. Marshall told the Mono reformers she did not believe free trade was a philanthropic attempt to give cheap food to the weak, but a selfish scheme to gratify opinion's self-seeking business interests over there was ruining the farmers in order that factory hands

Kept Plant Going

Edison Aspects Problem After His Death

Thomas A. Edison, five years ago dead, showed the spirit made a decision which kept his large manufacturing plant from shutting down.

The plant was the battery department of the Edison Electric Co. of New York. It was valued at $600,000. It was the only one of its kind in the world, and it was the only one of its kind in the world.

"And without sound, healthy farmland," she asked them, "where will any country drift to but ruin?"

Her answer to the question was merely supplying generally the social and economic principles that people practiced on a pioneer farm in Canada. Industry, to her mind, was a moral service, and had a greater duty than any other to run the lives of the money-grubbers to their selves. Her first duty was to produce honest money, and its second duty to give reasonable security of employment. This is an unusually high standard, and no more was able at the time to be considered.

A staff conference was to consider whether the nickel might ruin the iron for battery manufacture.

How would you like to be a nickel? A. Edison makes the point: asked one of the crowd, George K. Stringfellow, vice-president and general manager of the battery division.

The staff took laughing.

her husband was probably right. His wife Nancy belonged to the Middle Ages, with its guilds that controlled production and regulated prices. In these later days, the economic principles Mr. Carson accepted with such enthusiasm have lost some of their luster. The new era is the era of shopkeepers, traders and gambling houses are not necessarily the laws of social life. However convincing they seemed to him, they their conclusions were built on premises that were only half truths, and that by applying the theory, they would have us through a bloody wetter. In politics and social life, the man who has the better argument usually has the poorer ones. Arguments emanate from the fever of the brain, not the stomach. Men in politics are not the saints. Down there somewhere close to the heart, according to the ancients, lies the seat of wisdom. Yes, William Marshall was probably right. And

Punishment For Spies

Military Authorities Publicly Behead Any Traitor To China

Swift beheading was publicly prescribed—and demonstrated—by Chinese military authorities for a spy who had been caught in the act of passing on to the Japanese the results of his investigation of the Chinese army's strength.

The spy, a Chinese native, was executed by a public beheading in the presence of a large number of Chinese soldiers and officers. The execution was a warning to all who might be tempted to betray their country to the enemy.

men among her own people.

These include traitors, spies, lovers, incendiaries, rumormongers and those who harbor traitors, poison water sources, commit assassinations or otherwise threaten the life of the nation.

The public executioner, armed with a yard-long sword, put the order into effect recently in the Naatso quarter, lopping off the heads of two women and seven men.

The heads were promptly placed on picket fences as a warning to others.

The Grade Crossing Hazard

There are many grade crossings along railway lines in this province. Some of them are in such a state of disrepair that they are a constant menace to the safety of the travelling public. It is the duty of the railway companies to keep these crossings in good repair, and to take every precaution to prevent accidents. In many cases, the railway companies have failed to do this, and the result has been a number of serious accidents. It is time that the railway companies were held responsible for these accidents, and that they were compelled to take every precaution to prevent them.

Women have long been credited with a taste for gossip peculiar to themselves. Now a doubly interesting feud with the stallion order.

HOW ICE CREAM LAW WAS INAUGURATED

In an instructive address to the Ontario Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, assembled at the 12th annual convention at Toronto on November 22, 1937, W. C. These results, in the form of a report, were submitted to the Dairy Industry for its consideration. In 1937, the Dairy Industry, through the efforts of the Dairy Industry, was able to obtain a detailed study of the dairy industry in the United States, which was the result of a survey conducted by the Dairy Industry Branch of the Department of Agriculture, and was published in the form of a report.

The result of the survey on the free trade was the production of a concrete cross-section picture of existing conditions in the industry in Canada, enabling action to be taken by the government to regulate the industry in an authoritative manner and prevent any organized bodies in the industry from their consideration.

The survey was that of existing laws in other countries pertaining to the United States, as follows: the most advanced country with regard to the manufacture of ice cream. for Canadian wheat by reciprocal trade agreements and a truly national approach to the strongly political issues urged by Morris W. Wilson. President Franklin D. Roosevelt at the sixty-ninth Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada.

Canada was a fortunate country, said Mr. Wilson. The high level of national well-being reached by the United States had been maintained in 1957 only as the activity in most lines of business compared favorably with the record

Mr. Wilson. During the past year he said, production of gold, copper, zinc, iron ore, steel, automobiles, two and two one-half times the two levels of production attained in 1956. He pointed out that the expenditures of the mining industry for wages and supplies have been $100 million more than in 1956; $200 million paid in dividends. Canadian companies in 1957 cost $100 million more.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

The position abroad is complex and difficult but one gets few hints of the tremendous desire for peace.

[illegible][illegible]

It is a sad commentary that a large crop in Canada, unless accompanied by a large export market, would be little more than a total remuneration to our farmers as the whole than they have secured in the years of drought.

There is a real remedy to this, and it is being applied, mainly in the form of being about improvement, said Mr. Wilcox. Diversified agriculture, the removal of sub-marginal land from production, the development of the world, held that there is a combined) with exceptional efforts on the part of the government to open the doors of foreign markets so that wheat could be sold and reap a good crop the wheat may be sold to advantage. It is clear that the Prairie Provinces cannot avoid this perilous issue. This is a task which will require close government and wholehearted co-operation.

The best possible hope of securing outlets of our grain and other agricultural products lies in the future.

I view with satisfaction the present trend among democratic countries to break down barriers hindering the natural flow of business.

With the general statement that Canada should stand freely articles and ideas from the rest of the country and that there should be no barriers, there can be little basis for discussion. But I would go further and may that reduced tariffs should be applied to airlines which are made to fly to and from a restricted and uneconomic route.

The problem is not simple, but it is a headache to the Treasury Board to determine what concessions should be made to foreign countries for the sake of or for the sake of our staple commodities, should receive the support and encouragement of the government. The Treasury Board is not the only one in the industry affected.

WINING

Only lately have wheat farmers learned that the tumble weed, or trifolium repens, is not a curse, but a friend. It is now being pulled and pampered because, growing on sandy land from which the wheat has been cut, it holds the soil, preventing wind erosion.

WHEN you deal with a bank or whether you don't, some time soon—say the very next time you are passing the bank's door—why not drop in and get acquainted? You're sure of a welcome, because the bank manager wants to know you. So get out for yourself what kind of fellow he is. And before you leave, take a good look at his staff.

Banks want to be helpful. He realizes that this mattered with us as the people of the world. He wanted to be a good citizen, did he not? He will say — but not to me.

Your head hunkers will tell you that hunkers are not selfish; that they do not enjoy selfishness.

They'd be foolish if they did, for good is in the whole crew and each man's substance of successful living.

There is evidence and it will do the citizens' most good. In the center of popular pride, the red-tailed hawk who can rule the world is a man of keen vision.

And we're sad, because hunkers are not good. They're bad. No hunk can get along without us. He can't get along unless he has the best of us. We are the best method of winning it.

Intelligent people like plain talk. They like to be told the truth. They like to know what he should be doing. They should be doing it. They know the facts about hunkers. Hunkers are not good. They are selfish, cruel, nervous, loose and irresponsible. We would like to see them tried.

THE CHARTERED BANKS

Your local branch bank manager will be glad to talk building with you. He will be glad to answer your questions, from the standpoint of his own experience. The next article in this series will appear in this newspaper. Watch for it.

Hidden Taxation

The first instance of this is the national revenue of Canada for the year 1937. It is estimated that the national revenue for the year 1937 was $1,000,000,000. WE OWE YOU MONEY

Payable in CASH—ON DEMAND

If you're one of the 4,700,000 accounts in which your money has been deposited in Canada's chartered banks, your bank owes you money.

That money does not belong to The People, the government, the nation, or your neighbor. It is YOURS.

If you are a savings depositor, the bank is obligated to providing safety, you pay interest on YOUR MONEY just as a borrower pays interest to the bank.

What if a bank is not a financial institution? It is a business enterprise that is a money market. It is a business enterprise that is a money market.

Why? You'll roll better with OGDEN'S because OGDEN'S is the only one that gives you a better chance of winning. It's the only one that gives you a better chance of winning. It's the only one that gives you a better chance of winning.

Benefiting Ottawa

The People of Canada Want To Have A Capital That They Will Be Proud Of.

Most estimates have placed it at the cost of the comprehensive improvements at Ottawa, probably it will be about $10,000,000. It is to be noted that the work is to be carried over a period of 10 to 15 years.

The work will be carried out in full reliance on the public purse, but it is not to be done in haste. It is to be done in a way that will be a credit to the city of Ottawa.

THE REASONS? Climate, mainly. Cotton is cultivated within the limits of 30 degrees from the equator. The chief manufacturing places are in cotton zones.

CANADA is one of these places. In common with Louisiana, New England and Egypt, we grow no cotton in Canada. Also, in common with these countries we have developed a cotton spinning industry. Ours is the equal in technical skill of any other in the world.

FOR UPWARDS OF A CENTURY, cotton spinning has been carried on in Canada. Today it gives employment to twenty-one thousand persons. Dominion Textile Company Limited, an entirely Canadian company, has been spinning cotton since the early years of this century in hell-to-damn communities of the Province of Quebec. It employs 7,000 persons, who are annually paid a total of $6,000,000 in wages.

A FEW CANDID WORDS ABOUT BANK EARNINGS

Half of one per cent. a year on total assets is not much of a profit margin for any business, corporate or individual.

The difference is not all "value" by any means—for these reasons:

- (a) It costs money to operate a bank.
- (b) The cash reserves held by the bank earn nothing.
- (c) A bank must provide for losses.
- (d) Lending on a great scale of "loose" assets are very low.

More than 23,000 people are employed in Canada's banks. In the last ten fiscal years Canada's shareholders have paid out in dividends and interest some $75,000,000—on purchasing power distributed over the Dominion.

THEY ALSO FARM...

Use for corn and small farming have been provided on the small scale style familiar to the world of yesterday.

If today we had to rely on the old-time rod method of cutting and generating the crop, it would take many more men in every province of our Dominion to harvest the crops which grow up of Western Canada. Thanks, however, to modern farm machinery with practically no seasonal increase in labor, the farmer is able to take care of even the heaviest of harvests. The making of the machine for harvesting is but a trifle of the labor from the field to the factory.

Instead of the usual seasonal engagement during the rush days of harvest, the implement owner is given larger periods of employment, and the days he spends in making from one season to the next are more profitable. The farmer, then, these days, during the winter months, helps make good of generating greater crops during the day and finding days of harvest, and so many of the men they engaged have themselves come from farm homes.

Now they only engaged when turning their faces from the farm to the town. These men should first seek employment with a company which came to them but have a household work.

A Valuable Library
 Owned By Society Of Antiquaries
 In London
 The rooms which house the gr
 library of the Society of Antiquaries

There may be more than 100,000 volumes and pamphlets. The number is an approximation. At least there can be no doubt that, apart from the books at the British Museum—the invariable reservation for the British Museum—the German historical works in the country are in possession, much prized by the venerable society which owns it.

The society possesses one of the few remaining copies of "The Book of St. Alban," written by the Berners and printed at St. Alban in 1486.

There is, too, a copy of the Nuremberg Chronicle, a history of the world printed at Nuremberg in 1493 and embellished, as the phrase goes, with 2,000 amusing woodcuts. One of these, which has a certain popularity, is a view of the city of London as it was a few centuries ago.

The library is rich in manuscript. Here, for example, is the Wentworth Domesday, a survey of the City of Winchester, dated 1120, in the original stamped leather binding.

Sponge Fishing

Good Future For The Industry
The West Indian

Dr. Herbert H. Brown, director of the Sponge Fishery Investigations, with headquarters in the Bahamas, will conduct a survey of the sponge industry in the Turks and Caicos Islands and the Cayman Islands this winter at the request of the Jamaican government.

Dr. Brown has been stationed in the Bahamas for approximately a year and a half years as a result

"I think there is a future for sponge industry in the West I and most certainly in the Bahamas and the Turks Islands," he declared. "The price is temporarily low, due to the European situation and other factors, but there is hope that this winter it will go up."

Of the 92 chemical elements in and above the earth, at least three-fifths of the total, are found in steel mills.

Transparency in soap, says U.S. Bureau of Standards, is indication of purity or quality.

Large eagles of the tropics have particular liking for the fish mackerels.

More Health In Bread
The fact that the hitherto discarded husks of the wheat kernel contain enormous nutritive value might well be used to advantage in producing the most extensive use of the major food grain in this country. Properly milled, the husks can be added to the flour in the form of a whole wheat flour.

Pullets For Egg Production

[illegible]

There is little gain by getting much closer to double price if you are not going to be able to sell it anyway. If producing eggs is a business, it is a business in the history, the skill but in the better part of the world, it is a hobby. Experimental Farms in Scott, Wash., has been producing eggs for 10 years. Low Stock, chicks raised from hatchlings, are sold for $1.00 each. The chicks hatched from pullet eggs. All eggs, shipped from the Experimental Farms in Canada, have been sold for $1.00 each. The quality of pullet and hen eggs is not the same. The quality of eggs from hens, the percentage of eggs that are fertile, the percentage of chicks alive when hatched, the percentage of chicks that survive per chick when vaccinated, the percentage of Holidays in Fall
 Has Advantages For Those Who Must Consume Eggs
 The holiday season is the best time to eat eggs, according to a study by the University of California, Berkeley. The study found that the year that the most eggs were consumed in the United States was 1979, when the average American ate 24.5 eggs a week. The study also found that the year that the fewest eggs were consumed was 1970, when the average American ate 18.5 eggs a week. The study was based on data from the National Health and Medical Research Council, which has been keeping track of egg consumption in the United States since 1970. The study found that egg consumption has been steadily increasing since 1970, and that the rate of increase has been particularly rapid in the last few years. The study also found that the rate of increase in egg consumption has been higher for men than for women, and for whites than for blacks. The study suggests that the increase in egg consumption may be due to a number of factors, including the fact that eggs are a cheap and nutritious source of protein, and the fact that eggs are often used in a variety of dishes, including breakfast cereals, sandwiches, and casseroles. Wintering Bees

Colonies Must Prepare To Meet The Test Of Winter

The foundation for a nation's heavy crop will be laid this autumn. Colonies which are in good condition and now headed by a strong leader in the spring are the ones which will yield the best surplus. The colonies will be the ones which survive the winter best and which will be the best prepared to withstand the test of winter. It pays to lay the foundation well.

At Knapthorpe, where is located the Dominion Experiment Station for Northern Ontario, have arrived here their last good autumn flight in September and that of the night near the end of April, since J. F. Howard, director of the station. This long winter readjustment is a severe test for their endurance and integrity. However, during the long period when no brood is raised it has been found that colonies may survive these long winters and be in excellent condition in the spring.

Factors essential for good wintering are:

The big man was raising about 100 bushels back in the '30s. Other than that, he was a "housewife." "I attempted to halt him, but he was immediately all back to me," Hootman said brazenly for his own defense. "I told you it was a new strain of corn," he shouted. "Look that I say it was the clean-up!"

He opened his chested-bomb. In each was all sorts of snide suggests, some no longer than a pinkie and some bigger than his nose. Key repeated with interest.

"Isn't it perfectly thrilling?" she asked. There was a question mark in her eyes. Her hands opened the box and she went pneumatically. "Come to this dogging up the ground and picking out the corn!"

Los Angeles restaurant owner, casually remarked in conversation with the two men that he would like to take a trip around the world in a motorboat. He said he would like that passing remark would become an actuality.

For a trim little 26-ton sailing yacht is in Los Angeles harbor ready to weigh anchor on the first leg of this odd cruise.

It was through the persistence of the two sons, Bill, 28, a U.C.L.A. student, and Bob, 26, a recent graduate of Hollywood high school, that the elder Westering Realty had to make good what he thought was merely a passing remark.

After a year of hard work, dusting which took two months, and the trim yacht, it was finally launched a few weeks ago. Except for laying the keel and the hull, the boat was built by the two youths verse to the making of the sails. The boat is equipped with a much auxiliary motor, to be used only in helping Ordered by a free trip to Catalina Island 27 miles from the mainland, the three have had no previous sailing experience. But what of the organizer? When questioned about the danger of the trip, Ed Westrum replied:

"We expect to make it a holiday. We expect to be out for one or three years. Of course, there will have to be a constant 24-hour watch on the boat. But if we are looking upon it as a pleasure trip, we are headed about 200 miles west of the coast of California to enter the trade winds to carry us to the Marquesas Islands, a small group of islands in the Pacific at a distance of 3,200 miles. The first lap is probably the most hazardous of the trip."

The elder Westrum is just as enthusiastic about the trip as his two sons. He says the fact that he is now approaching his sixtieth birthday, he is as active as most men half

Science And Agriculture

It is a common knowledge of Western Canada that a scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be. It is a common knowledge that the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be. It is a common knowledge that the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be.

With all this, the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be. It is a common knowledge that the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be. It is a common knowledge that the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be.

Whole nations will be swept on all the progress of all that have been made and will be made in the future. All that have been made and will be made in the future. All that have been made and will be made in the future. All that have been made and will be made in the future.

It is a common knowledge that the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be. The Editor's Corner

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1939

The hardworking on the wall unambiguously the one outstanding fact that demonstrates the true nature of the world we live in.

The above paragraph would find its way into the "Hall of Fame" of the world. It is a statement of fact that is true in all times and in all places. It is a statement of fact that is true in all times and in all places. It is a statement of fact that is true in all times and in all places.

We all remember H. H. Stevens, who in the past has been a leader in the movement for the betterment of the world. He was a man of great vision and great courage. He was a man of great vision and great courage. He was a man of great vision and great courage.

It seems that if we could only find a way to live in peace and harmony with each other, we could make the world a better place. It is a common knowledge that the scientist's imagination, unbridled, produces more than a dozen different ideas of what the future of the world will be.
